

Institute for Urban Research, Morgan State University
Presents a FREE Workshop

The 2010 Census Countering the Undercounted: What Can You Do?

Learn what you as an individual, group and/or organization can do to help reduce the undercount

The U.S Bureau of Census has designated parts of Maryland including Baltimore City as extremely hard-to-count areas. Each family of four undercounted, amounts to approximately $4000 per year and $40,000 in loss of federal funds over the ten-year span following the Census count. Our communities, city and state cannot afford to lose this kind of $$$ during the current economic crisis. Join us for a workshop to explore efforts by federal, state and local officials to reduce the undercount.

Saturday, December 5, 2009, 10:00 a.m. to 1:00 p.m.

Morgan State University

Clarence Mitchell Engineering Building Library (Off Perring Parkway to the North side of the campus)

Register TODAY by web (<http://iur.morgan.edu>), phone (443.885.1249), fax (443.885.8274) or mail!

Name _____ Organization _____

Address _____

City _____ State _____ Zip Code _____ Phone _____

Mail to: Mr. Clement Anyadike, Institute for Urban Research, Morgan State, University, Montebello D-212, Coldspring Lane & Hillen Road, Baltimore, MD 21251-9972. For questions, call 443-885-1249.

